ANNANDALE
DISTILLERY

An aerial night photograph of a distillery complex. The central courtyard is illuminated by warm lights, featuring a tall, cylindrical stone chimney. A red trailer is parked in the courtyard. The surrounding buildings are dark, with some windows glowing. The foreground shows a large, open area, possibly a parking lot or field, with a few vehicles and a fence line. The overall scene is dark and atmospheric, with a focus on the central courtyard and chimney.

SELECT YOUR SPIRIT

We produce two different types of whisky, both named in honour of local Scottish icons.

MAN O'WORDS

Our smooth and mellow unpeated spirit.

Named after and inspired by the eloquence of Robert Burns, a sometime excise man in Annan in the late 18th century, and more commonly known as Scotland's National Bard.

MAN O'SWORD

Our smolderingly smoky peated spirit.

Named after and inspired by the formidable Robert the Bruce, the Seventh Earl of Annandale in the 13th and 14th centuries, and more commonly known as King of Scots and a national hero.

Refill (several times used)

Refill bourbon casks have already been used several times and so the whisky matures more slowly. The oak flavours are more subtle, and the distillery character plays a greater part in the overall flavour.

Appearance: Pale gold.
Nose: Initial creamy vanilla and caramel followed by orchard fruits and hints of oak.
Palate: Fresh summer berries precede hints of creamy vanilla.
Finish: Bittery with almonds and hazelnuts.
